

Nearly 14,700 patients treated last year

Emergency room service relieves medical staff burden

Nearly 14,700 patients (more than the population of Washington C.H.) were treated in the emergency room at Fayette Memorial Hospital during 1974, placing a heavy burden on the hospital's medical staff.

However, Washington C.H. area physicians are now being relieved of that pressure of handling emergency room cases with the establishment of the hospital's first full-time emergency room service which became effective earlier this month.

ROBERT L. KUNZ, administrator at Fayette Memorial Hospital, said the hospital has needed the 24-hour, seven days a week emergency room service because of the huge increase in the number of patients treated in the past four years.

The emergency room treatment figures have jumped from 8,900 persons in 1970 to 14,700 last year. And less than 1,000 of the 14,700 patients treated last year in the emergency room required hospital admission, according to Kunz.

The emergency room draws a large number of patients from neighboring Highland, Clinton, Ross, Pickaway, Madison and Pickaway counties.

More persons are using the emergency room because it is more convenient than waiting for an appointment with a private physician and Kunz pointed out that "it is not uncommon for 100 patients to seek emergency room treatment over a weekend."

Kunz added that 82 per cent of patients admitted to the hospital are covered by insurance, but he said many persons do not have family doctors and rely on emergency treatment.

"We're not trying to hide the fact that this treatment is more expensive than at a doctor's office," Kunz said.

Dr. Michael E. Faylor, 30, of Bellefontaine, has entered into a one-year contract with the hospital's board of trustees to provide the full-time emergency room service. Faylor, who heads a Bellefontaine emergency room service firm, has conducted similar duties at Mount Gilead, Mount Vernon and Bellefontaine.

Dr. Faylor and Dr. Gary Mead, a former emergency room physician at Lima Memorial Hospital, will head the emergency room service head. Kunz said a third physician will join Dr. Faylor and Dr. Mead in July.

On weekends the emergency room will continue to be staffed by 10 physicians from Cincinnati General Hospital. The Cincinnati physicians have staffed the facility for the past four years.

Kunz said it is hoped that some of the physicians might decide to relocate their practices in Washington C.H. because of the distance involved in commuting.

MEANWHILE, hospital officials are preparing for the first of three phases of an expansion and improvement project.

Iowa company plans to employ 30 workers in full operation

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

With Fayette County now holding the second highest county unemployment rate in the state at 13.3 per cent, a new industry will be a hearty welcome for the Washington C.H. area.

Thatcher Plastics Packaging Co. of Muscatine, Iowa, has just completed plans and signed a five-year lease from the B-H Enterprises partnership to rent a 42,720-square foot industrial facility on Kenskill Avenue in the city's industrial park for the light manufacturing of molded products and plastic squeeze tubes.

ACCORDING TO Carl Yahn, vice president of manufacturing and administration at the Thatcher Plastics Co., the new plant is expected to employ approximately 30 local employees during its full operation. Yahn said the company is anticipating preliminary set-up in early March with full employment and operations achieved by July.

B-H Enterprises purchased the 6.074-acre tract of land in the industrial park a year ago from the Community Improvement Corp. The building was constructed for industrial use of pre-engineered steel produced at the Armco Steel Corp., Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H. B-H Enterprises will finish the interior of the building to suit the needs of the new occupants, according to Stan Hannon, president of the Modern Sales and Construction Co., Wilmington.

Thatcher Plastics Packaging Co., is a division of Dart Industries and supplies light manufactured products throughout the United States. The Muscatine, Iowa plant employs over 600 workers, Yahn said. The Washington C.H. plant will be only the second Thatcher Plastics facility in the United States.

Dart Industries, formerly the Rexall Drug and Chemical Co., is a billion dollar corporation with corporate headquarters located in Los Angeles, Calif.

Yahn said the decision for the move to Washington C.H. was the culmination of six months of study in

Ford would hike gasoline taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has decided on an energy policy that deliberately increases gasoline prices to discourage demand but rejects direct fuel restrictions or rationing, an informed administration source says.

This source also said Tuesday that Ford has won the voluntary agreement of auto makers to improve gasoline mileage, but that he would not propose federal mileage standards or a horsepower tax.

However, Ford was expected to propose standards or tax credits to improve building insulation.

The administration's energy policy is to be made public later this month. Many of Ford's expected proposals would require congressional action, especially in imposing or easing taxes.

Ford was expected to stick to his goal of reducing oil demand by one million barrels a day by the end of this year and to select a target for limiting oil imports by 1985 to something between 10 and 20 per cent of U.S. demand, compared with the present 36 per cent.

But his energy policy was not expected to include a decision on stockpiling oil against the threat of sudden shortages, a subject to be studied further in the next several months.

The administration source said Ford has decided the outlines of the energy policy to be proposed in his State of the Union report and probably in a separate energy message. But his advisers were still debating how best to deal with the economic impact of the energy decisions.

The source said Ford was expected to propose: —A tariff of $3 per barrel on imported oil and a $3 excise tax on domestic oil, costing consumers some $18.6 billion a year at present demand levels. Such increases could raise the price of gasoline about 7½ cents a gallon and other petroleum products by various amounts.

—General tax reductions to send the money back to the public for spending on other goods or services.

—Removal of price controls from "old" oil brought into production by 1972, allowing its price to rise from $5.25 a barrel to prevailing levels, now around $11.

—The end of federal regulation over interstate prices of natural gas.

—A voluntary agreement by auto makers to improve gasoline mileage 40 per cent by 1979, bringing the average performance of 1980 models close to 20 miles a gallon, but not a federal mileage standard or a tax on vehicle weight or horsepower.

—Federal standards or tax credits for improving the insulation of buildings, with some sort of financial aid for insulating the homes of the poor.

—Stimulation of coal production, either through leasing of additional federal land or by enforcement of clauses in existing leases which require "due diligence" in mining the land. The administration would seek the easing of certain clean air standards to allow increased burning of coal.

Gilligan urges spending hike in final speech as governor

JOHN GILLIGAN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan made his final appearance before the Ohio General Assembly Tuesday night, proposing a budget he'll never get to push.

The Democratic governor leaves office Monday, and the budget the legislature will be working with must come from Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes, a Republican, by March 15.

Gilligan, however, fulfilled his legal requirement by offering his proposed spending program. It calls for increased general fund spending of $1.5 billion for the two years beginning July 1, 1975.

Several seats were vacant as Gilligan strode into the House chamber to give his "state of the state" message for the final time.

A packed gallery, many of them state employees, gave him a standing ovation as he was escorted into the chamber to give the 30-minute prepared speech. It was telecast over a public television network.

The suggested budget called for increased spending in welfare, education and medical care and brought an expected reaction from Republicans.

House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perryburg, noted that Gilligan wouldn't be around when a new budget is adopted.

"I think it's a reflection of arrogance asking us to adopt it," said Kurfess.

Democrats, however, thought it was a good speech. Senate President Pro Tem Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, called it "pleasing."

Gilligan, near the end of his talk, plugged for some partisan issues now pending before the Democratic-controlled legislature, including redrawing of congressional boundaries, changes in voter registration procedures and collective bargaining rights for public employees.

The outgoing governor suggested the general fund budget be upped from the current $5 billion to $6.5 billion for the next biennium. The all-funds state budget, under which the state is now operating, is $10.1 billion.

Gilligan suggested the state raise its share of spending for schools to 46 per cent, bringing the total figure up to $1.3 billion by the end of the biennium.

"Ohio today is still one of the wealthiest and most powerful state in the wealthiest nation the world has ever seen," he told the legislators.

"And yet in 1970, a little more than four years ago," he said, "a minuscule proportion of these resources was being employed to solve the shared problems of our people."

Gilligan reviewed what he has said his administration has done in such areas as mental health and education, noting that spending for primary and secondary education jumped from $575 million in fiscal 1971 to $1.1 billion in the current budget.

Noting the state of the national economy, he suggested a 25 per cent increase in welfare and extension of unemployment compensation benefits from 26 to 39 weeks.

He asked that the average welfare recipient payment be boosted from $53.50 a month to $67, "with full recognition of the fact that even such an increase as this is pitifully inadequate, since these people are hit harder by cost inflation than any group in our society." Other proposals by Gilligan included:

—$13.7 million for a new maternal and child health care program.

—Freezing of student fees for another two years at state universities and expansion of the Ohio instructional grant program to a level seven times as large as it was four years ago.

—$4.65 million to provide home care for nearly 200,000 elderly Ohioans.

—An additional $376 million in property tax relief for the biennium.

—$551 million to the mentally retarded, which would double spending in this category over four years ago.

—$2.2 million to train 8,500 emergency medical ambulance attendants and $5 million to encourage Ohio-trained physicians to remain in the state.

Gilligan said the spending proposals could be accomplished without changing the tax structure.

A Republican legislator, Rep. Robert E. Netzel, R-7 Laura, said the proposals, if adopted, would take "at least a $1 billion tax increase."

Commissioners earmark $1.5 million for 1975

The 1975 appropriations approved by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners calls for expenses of just over $1.5 million. That total is some $750,000 less than the actual expenditures in 1974 or a cutback of approximately 33 per cent.

The balance of county funds as of Dec. 31, 1974 was $1,680,864 or slightly more than would be necessary to pay for all appropriations this year, if money could be transferred among the various accounts at will. However, this is not the case.

Approximately $750,000 remains in the maintenance and roads fund and can only be used for those purposes. The money in this fund comes from the license plate and gasoline taxes. Additional revenue for the county will come from these sources during 1975, and only $320,633 of the total which should well exceed $1 million is appropriated for roadwork.

Estimates of revenue for 1975 have not yet been completed by the county auditor's office, but if the revenue for 1975 is the same as it was in 1974, and only the money which is now appropriated is actually spent, the county would have nearly three million in unspent dollars by the end of this year.

Whether or not this situation may actually arise cannot be determined until revenue estimates for 1975 have been completed by auditor Mary Morris.

Appropriations for 1975 in the various funds with the actual expenditures for 1974 given in parentheses are:

GENERAL FUND: county commissioners office, $28,670 ($26,120); auditor's office, $38,004 ($32,681); treasurer, $29,900 ($29,345); prosecuting attorney, $25,200 ($20,023); common pleas court, $22,432 ($21,200);

Lions variety show March 3-4

The Washington C.H. Lions Club will hold its annual variety show Monday, March 3 and Tuesday, March 4.

Both performances of the always-popular production will be held at 8 p.m. in the Washington C.H. Middle School building auditorium.

The musical comedy program, which will follow in general the pattern of many of the past Lions Club entertainments, includes chorus numbers, skits and specialty acts.

Paul Johnson, a co-producer of this year's show which will be entitled "The Four Seasons," said rehearsals for the two-performance program will be launched at 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 19 at the former Sunnyside Elementary School building. The rehearsals will continue through Saturday, March 1 when a stage rehearsal will be held. The annual dress rehearsal will be held Sunday, March 2 in the Washington C.H. Middle School auditorium.

The show has been an annual event in Washington C.H. continuously since the first performance in the Fayette Theatre in 1936, except for a period during World War II.

Last year's show raised approximately $2,000. All proceeds from the variety show are used in the Lions Club's sight-saving program and much of the money is spent locally for eye examinations and glasses.

Mrs. Cinda Stinson and Mrs. Mary Jean Schwaigert are co-directors of the show. Mrs. Stinson will direct the chorus of nearly 100 Lions and Lioness club members, while Mrs. Schwaigert will be the accompanist. Mrs. Paul Johnson is the choreographer for the dances.

The ticket sale is being headed by Richard Patton. Tickets priced at $1.50 per person are

Two measures on agenda

Council reorganization scheduled for tonight

Washington C.H. City Council will hold its annual reorganization meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

During the recessed meeting of Dec. 30, a new chairman and vice chairman will be elected. John E. Rhoads is presently serving as City Council chairman, while Ralph L. Cook is the vice chairman and will be elevated to the chairman's seat.

City solicitor Gary D. Smith will be appointed to preside as acting chairman of council for the reorganization.

Two pieces of emergency legislation will be considered by City Council members during the regular meeting, according to City Manager Dan Wolford.

Council will consider the second reading of an emergency ordinance relating to a rate increase request submitted by the Court Cable Co. The increase will be from $5 to $6 per year.

An emergency resolution authorizing the formation of the Fayette County Disaster Services Agency will also be considered by City Council members.

Reports on bids for fleet insurance for city-owned vehicles and gasoline bids will be presented during the city manager's report.

Deaths, Funerals

William Buck

Services for William Buck, 68, of Milledgeville, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Glen Williams officiating.

Mr. Buck, a retired laborer, was found dead at his home Tuesday morning. Born in Greene County, Mr. Buck had spent most of his life in Fayette County. He was never married.

He is survived by a brother, Robert Buck, of Washington C.H.; and a sister, Mrs. Bessie Massie, of Milledgeville.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 until 9 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery.

Charles C. Garrison

Auto makers set cost rebate plan

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry analysts believe other U.S. car makers may have to follow Chrysler Corporation's lead in granting major price rebates of up to $400 on specific models to boost sales.

But spokesmen for General Motors and Ford Motor Co. said that their firms had no immediate plans to discount their models.

Chrysler, saddled with 320,000 unsold 1975 models, is launching the auto industry's first big price discounts since domestic car sales began plummeting more than a year ago.

Chrysler will offer the rebates to buyers of new cars and light trucks beginning Monday in an unprecedented five-week campaign which it hopes will stimulate sales.

The industry has been under heavy pressure from dealers to roll back prices since record increases averaging $450 a car went into effect last September. Sales are off more than 25 per cent since the increases went into effect.

One New York analyst said Tuesday that Chrysler's price discounts indicate the company's "recognition that cars were overpriced."

"It's now inevitable that others will follow the move," said Harry Laubscher of Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co. He predicted the discounts will result in increased sales.

Another New York analyst, Arvid Jouppi, added, "Obviously the campaign will boost sales. There has been considerable price resistance."

Jouppi said Ford and American Motors might adopt similar consumer incentives because they too have very high supplies of unsold cars. But he said GM probably would not because of a smaller inventory.

The Chrysler campaign, scheduled to end Feb. 16, offers rebates of $200 to $300 on a specific model each week. Another $100 will be rebated on specific trade-in models that include both Chrysler and competitors' cars.

The plan will be backed up by a media blitz that will cost an estimated $5 million.

Under the discount plan, the first of its kind in automotive history, rebates will be given to buyers directly by the company and not by the dealers.

The auto companies have offered discounts in the past, but only in the form of discounts to dealers who are free to negotiate lower-than-sticker prices without cutting into their own profits.

Report claims Brezhnev to enter Boston hospital

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe said today that Leonid I. Brezhnev would enter the Sidney Farber Cancer Center here today, but in Moscow authorities said the Soviet leader was there for the funeral of his mother.

Newsmen in the Soviet capital saw Brezhnev's limousine in his mother's funeral procession although they did not see the 68-year-old Soviet Communist party chief himself. However, Soviet officials at the scene told them he was present.

A spokesman at the Soviet Foreign Ministry said he had no comment on the Boston Globe's report. Top-ranking officials at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow said they had no information on the report.

The Globe in a front-page story said a police source told it that the Soviet leader would enter the cancer center at the Children's Hospital complex sometime today.

However, the Boston office of the FBI, the state police, the cancer center and airport officials all told The Associated Press they knew nothing of the reported visit.

Initial inquiries to the State Department and the Secret Service in Washington drew no comment.

Last Friday, syndicated columnist Charles Bartlett reported that while Soviet spokesmen were saying Brezhnev canceled a scheduled trip to Cairo next week because he had the flu, he actually was suffering from leukemia.

The Soviet news agency Tass had announced on Dec. 30 that the trip was postponed indefinitely. No reason was given. Later, an Egyptian newspaper said "health reasons" forced cancellation of the trip.

The Globe said White House and State Department officials it questioned about the visit said "they had no information on which to base confirmation or denial of the reports" of a Boston trip.

Boston schools reopened under heavy police guard

BOSTON (AP) — Classes resumed at the South Boston High school complex without incident today as hundreds of police stood by to ensure the safety of children.

An estimated 300 to 400 white pupils and between 50 and 75 black children entered the schools for classes under the protection of about 400 state, metropolitan and local police officers.

Pupils passed through a metal detector before entering the schools. Only pupils and newsmen were allowed in the vicinity of the school by police, who stood watch at or along approach routes to the educational complex.

All four schools in the complex had been closed since an outbreak of racial violence Dec. 11.

The extra police were called out by the state's Public Safety Department in an effort to ensure the safety of children bused to class.

Turk quits; David Sweet appointed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Edmund J. Turk resigned from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio on Tuesday, and Gov. John J. Gilligan appointed one of his outgoing cabinet officials to replace him.

Turk, who was chairman of the PUCO, will be replaced as a commission member by David C. Sweet, director of the Department of Economic and Community Development.

Turk said he wanted to return to his Cleveland law practice. He was appointed to the PUCO in April, 1973.

Incoming Gov. James A. Rhodes is expected to name Carl R. Johnson, the only Republican on the commission, as chairman. Johnson served in the role under Rhodes previously.

The other board member is Democrat Sally W. Bloomfield.

Sweet, 35, a native of Rochester, N.Y., joined Gilligan's cabinet in 1971. Prior to that, Sweet was with Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus. He currently serves as chairman of the Ohio Emergency Energy Commission in addition to his ODECD post.

Turk's term on the commission, which Sweet will fill out, expires in February, 1979.

Before being named to the commission, Turk was president of the Cleveland City Council in 1972.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today in a pause from its rally of the past several sessions.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.34 at 638.85, while gainers maintained a 3-2 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that the market often encounters resistance from internal technical forces after a sharp rally like the one it has staged since New Year's Eve.

Polaroid was the most active issue on the Big Board, down 1 1/4 at 15 1/4.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .10 to 64.16.

ANNOUNCEMENTS regarding the annual variety show were made during the Lions Club's regular semi-monthly dinner meeting held Tuesday night in the Country Club.

During the meeting, conducted by club president Ralph Cook, it was announced to the 84 members present that the club raised $988 in its drawing for an all-expense paid Bahama cruise.

In other matters, it was announced the club contributed $200 for the American Legion's annual Christmas party for underprivileged children; membership growth pins were presented to club members Dale Dunn and Bart Mahoney, and that the district Lions Club bowling tournament will be held Sunday at Bowland Lanes.

Navy force heads for Indian ocean

WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful Navy carrier task force sailed toward the Indian Ocean today as rumblings persist over Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's implied warning of possible U.S. military action in a grave oil emergency.

The six-ship task force, led by the 85,000-ton nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise, was expected to enter the Indian Ocean within a few days after a voyage from the U.S. 7th Fleet base in Subic Bay, the Philippines.

The Pentagon acknowledged the Enterprise's sailing but declined to identify its destination. However, sources said the carrier, the nuclear-propelled guided missile cruiser Long Beach, two destroyers, a supply ship and an oiler were bound for the Indian Ocean.

Pentagon spokesman William Beecher said Tuesday the task force was on an operational mission but he denied reports it was bound for waters off South Vietnam, where government troops have been reeling under Communist attack.

The White House affirmed the Pentagon statement. At the same time, President Ford was described as watching developments in South Vietnam closely.

Congress has banned any U.S. bombing or other military action in Indochina. Any such move would require prior congressional approval, officials agreed.

In Honolulu, Adm. Noel Gayler, commander of U.S. military forces in the Pacific, said it was "difficult to imagine" any circumstances under which American troops would be sent back to Vietnam.

Speaking on the NBC-TV "Today Show" to be broadcast Thursday, Gayler said the possible fall of the Thieu regime—or any regime in South Vietnam—would not be circumstances for intervention by U.S. troops.

Defense sources insisted no show of force was intended in the voyage of the Enterprise group through the South China Sea. These sources indicated the task force would come no closer than about 350 miles from the South Vietnamese coast.

Pentagon officials said the impending month-long Indian Ocean cruise of the Enterprise with its 80 warplanes had been planned for weeks.

Shifts in economic balance

The so-called "world balance of power" is not as well defined as is sometimes suggested, but the concept does have some validity. The balance shifts from time to time. Just now it is shifting under the impact of the Arab oil-exporting countries' accumulating billions of dollars.

One aspect of the balance of power, economically speaking, has been the acquisition of controlling interests in foreign business concerns. In the past the United States and to a lesser extent other industrialized countries have done most of this. Now the money-flush Arabs are trying their hand at it.

Some of their initiatives along these lines raise serious questions about the potential effect on our defense posture. Last spring, for instance, an Arab consortium offered to buy almost half the stock of the Lockheed Corporation, a major defense manufacturer. Nothing came of that, but later there was talk of possible Arab moves to acquire a piece of the financially troubled Grumman Aerospace Corporation. In that case the Defense Department aborted the attempt by offering financial assistance on its own.

Carefully designed policy is needed to counteract the dangers in this situation. National security considerations argue for thwarting any moves by other countries to acquire substantial interests in U.S. defense contractors.

This does not apply, however, to foreign investment in other American businesses; that is something we will have to take in stride. For a country that has been on top of the economic heap for a long time, such realization does not come easily. However, it is a new fact of international life: the Arabs are not going to allow their billions of oil money to lie fallow, and some of it is going to be invested in the United States.

A WORD EDGEWISE By John P. Roche

The spooks need a watchdog

When I was a school kid, there would be occasional fire drills. Gongs would sound, we would all march neatly to the appropriate exit, and the principal, holding a stopwatch, would beam and say, "Excellent, children — only 4 minutes and 25 seconds." We, however, were never that impressed because we knew the teacher had been tipped off: She would have us lined up and ready to go the minute the alarm went off. Then one day a funny thing occurred: The local fire chief (who happened to be my father) walked casually into the school and pulled the nearest fire alarm.

The outcome was sheer chaos. The principal came running out of his office, teachers rushed into the halls to find out what was going on, and we kids, naturally enough, lammed out for the nearest fire escape on a devil-take-the-hindmost principle. Dad in full uniform was placidly standing there with a watch and informed the irate principal that it had taken 18 minutes to clear the building, that in the event of a real fire some children would undoubtedly have been hurt, and that he was going to report the shambles to the Superintendent of Schools.

What brought this autobiographical fragment to the surface is my basic conviction that our current difficulties with the Central Intelligence Agency have largely arisen from the absence of any effective outside check on its activities. In other words, no one with authority could walk into CIA headquarters at Langley and pull the nearest alarm. Somewhere there is a committee of distinguished citizens appointed by the President which, during my tenure at the White House, used to turn up maybe three or four times a year, spend a leisurely day or two talking to top Agency officials and presumably getting a beautiful briefing, and then vanish. I suppose that committee is still around someplace, but it was so patently cosmetic that I can't even remember its official name.

Then there are the House and Senate oversight committees. The less said about them the better: The members have been so intrigued by their "inside" status that they have never gone inside. What is more ego-building than being an insider with the spooks? (Recall that when Representative Michael Harrington released the information about the CIA's activities in Chile, he got the information from a report to these Congressional committees.)

In effect, then, the CIA has been left to police itself. I suppose the President could suddenly descend on Langley and, if he had the proper security clearances, demand information. But this would be unseemly. I managed to get President Johnson into the act once: The Agency was stonewalling my efforts to get a very useful document on Communist negotiation techniques declassified. Though there was not one piece of information in it that could not be found in the public record, it was "Top Secret."

When I howled, they downgraded it to "Secret." Furious, I took it to the President and asked him sardonically if he had the authority to declassify documents. He said he wasn't sure, but under the circumstances he took my word on the contents and declassified it. (I wonder if I ever told the boys across the river about that — they may still have it "Secret.")

As soon as Congress meets, at least four committees are planning to investigate the domestic activities of the CIA. This certainly is necessary, but far more important is the creation of a permanent watchdog, on the model of the Comptroller General, whose job is to walk into Langley unexpectedly and pull whatever alarm box he wants. (The Comptroller General, who runs the General Accounting Office, works for Congress — he is not a member of the executive branch subject to Presidential control.) The occupant of this post should not be a member of the "old boy" intelligence network, nor, of course, should he be committed to the absurd but currently popular notion that a CIA is necessarily a dirty, undemocratic institution. Moreover, if Congress takes this advice, it should also rewrite the charter of the CIA to institutionalize internal checks — for example, the same people who plan covert operations should not be permitted to evaluate them.

Congress has been busy complaining about how sneaky Presidents have undermined its authority. Here it has a chance not only to investigate (which is great fun), but to institutionalize badly needed control over the "intelligence community."

Ohio colleges plan activities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green State University will conduct a series of town meetings while Wittenberg University produces a television show under grants from the Ohio American Revolution Bicentennial Advisory Commission.

Bowling Green will spend $4,500 to conduct a series of town meetings in northwestern Ohio communities. The sessions will draw together the university and the towns of Napoleon, Bryan, Port Clinton, Fremont, Fostoria, Bucyrus, Norwalk, Upper Sandusky, Van Wert, Perrysburg, Wauseon and Huron to discuss local and national issues.

Duerk to head economy battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One of the men who will attempt to make Governor James A. Rhodes' jobs-and-progress campaign promise a reality is his economic and community development director, James A. Duerk.

Duerk, of Marysville, noted in an interview that in his successful race to unseat Gov. John J. Gilligan, Rhodes emphasized that "hard-hitting industrial development" will be a major concern of the incoming administration.

Duerk said that making projections is always tough, but he added that "Ohio will obviously suffer in some ways" from the nation's spreading recession.

He said that warding off effects of the recession will be a great challenge to the new administration.

Duerk, 44, is a native of Defiance, Ohio and attended Bowling Green State University. He worked as a reporter for the Bowling Green Sentinel-Tribune while in college in 1951 and later worked for the Defiance Crescent-News.

Duerk has a background in public relations and in 1964 became press aide for then-U.S. Rep. Oliver Bolton, R-Mentor.

In 1965 he joined the Republican state headquarters and served as editor of the party's weekly newspaper.

He also served as public relations director during U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr.'s successful race for Congress in 1965 and as press aide to William Saxbe during his successful race for the U.S. Senate in 1968.

From 1969 to 1971, Duerk served as press secretary for Rhodes during his second term as governor.

In 1973 he became Saxbe's press aide in the Senate and the following year became Saxbe's confidential assistant when the Senator was named U.S. attorney general by former President Nixon.

Later in 1974, Duerk returned to Ohio and served as a top campaign assistant to Rhodes.

Kent State dorm policy upheld

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University's policy of requiring freshmen and sophomore students to live in dormitories was upheld by U.S. District Judge William K. Thomas Tuesday.

The ruling came in a suit brought by Lawrence J. Schick, 19, and the Kent Interhall Council.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Overpopulators

increasingly unpopular

DEAR ABBY: You were much to easy on "Proud Mother" who was proud of the fact that "God" had given her 13 children. (Why blame God alone? Surely she had a husband.)

Proud Mother resented being criticized for the size of her family, saying she didn't ask anyone else to raise or deal them. If she is so proud of 13, perhaps she would be twice as proud of 26. Even if she quit with 13, consider the possibilities (and you will need a calculator) if each of her children multiplies at the same rate. In two generations she will have been responsible for 182 people!!! This number becomes significant when one considers the amount of food and gasoline they will consume in their lifetimes.

While the good lady has been busy making maximum use of God's gift of procreation, she's ignored God's additional gifts of reason based on accumulated knowledge.

Overpopulation and the exhausting of unrenowned natural resources is everybody's business.

CONCERNED IN CALIF.

DEAR CONCERNED: You were not the only one who expressed concern over Proud Mother's attitude.

Briefly, since the world's resources are limited, we can't continue to provide for a population that daily produces 185,000 new mouths to feed. Obviously, we must either decrease our birthrate or increase our deathrate. The choice is up to us.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who lives in Utah, came to visit my husband and me for two weeks.

We live in a small apartment with only a double bed in the bedroom and a sofa in the living room.

My husband is 6 ft. 5" and weighs 260, and he couldn't sleep on the sofa. My mother is 72, and has a bad back, so she couldn't sleep on the sofa either.

We didn't want to go to the expense of renting a bed, and we didn't know anyone who could lend us one, so I slept on the sofa and my husband and my mother slept in the double bed. (My mother slept in all her clothes plus my husband's raincoat.)

We have had nothing but criticism from the relatives since this story got around. Do you see anything wrong with this setup?

NEW YORKER
DEAR N.Y.'er: No. What was their beef?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old woman who feels as though she has been reborn.

It took me 13 months, but I lost 94 pounds. It has changed my life, Abby. I still consider myself ugly, but at least I'm not fat any more and I can talk to people without feeling ashamed.

Everybody tells me how great I look, except this one person at work. She keeps saying, "You look so sickly and frail. I liked you better the other way. You don't look like yourself. You are TOO thin now." Abby, I burn up like a match when she talks that way. I worked so hard to lose that weight, and for her to put me down just about kills me.

I can't ignore her because we work together and I see her every day.

What makes a person so mean?

THIN AND LOVING IT
DEAR THIN: Your co-worker is either incredibly insensitive, or she's not playing with a full deck.

(Maybe she's jealous.) Tune her out. Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box no. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Bicentennial celebration plans reviewed at Rotary Club meeting

A report on plans for observing the nation's 200th anniversary in Fayette County was presented to members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

Kenneth Craig, chairman of the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee, said Fayette county projects for the bicentennial must conform to one or more of three themes selected by the national commission under the titles, "Heritage '76," "Festival USA," and Horizons '76."

THE HERITAGE theme recalls the United States heritage in a historical perspective, the festival topic concentrates more on the traditions, culture and character, and horizons pertains to undertaking a project which would produce an everlasting benefit to the community.

Several ideas have been suggested for bicentennial celebrations in Fayette County, including the re-enactment of Paul Revere's historic ride, re-enactment of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, mapping and detailing of various historical sites within the county, researching and compiling lists of revolutionary graves and land grants from the county, displays of historic craftmanships and many others.

Craig, a history buff, in relation to the re-enactment of Paul Revere's ride, said that Revere never actually finished the ride. He said a riding partner of Revere's actually carried the message to the next destination, but Revere is credited in United States history because he was the one who devised the messenger system by tolling church bells.

The history of Fayette County's only

"boy general" was also discussed with Rotary Club members by Craig. He said Robert Newsome Adams, of near Greenfield, was the county's only boy brigadier general. Born in 1835, Adams achieved the rank of colonel in 1865 and two months later at the tender age of 30, he was promoted to brigadier general. Adams, who attended Miami University, Oxford, later entered the ministry.

Craig also discussed with Rotarians the first settler in Fayette County. He said the first settler was William Robinson, a North Carolinian, who had come to the Ohio country by way of Virginia in 1801, went first to what is now Xenia and then came to Fayette County.

According to Craig, an Indian tribe which was roaming in Fayette County near Jeffersonville was being terrorized by a black panther. Robinson, an accomplished hunter, was contacted by the Indian tribe to kill the panther, which he did on what is now Walnut Street in the northern Fayette County village.

As a reward, the Indians offered Robinson a farm, but he persuaded the Indians into giving him an additional plot of land for his son.

Thus, Robinson became the first Jeffersonville resident, although there was not so much as the semblance of a town there at that time — and would not be for nearly 30 years.

THE MEETING was conducted by club president Paul Crosby. The program was arranged by C. Elton Rhoad.

During a board of directors meeting held immediately following the regular club meeting, it was announced by club president Bill Williams that the annual Rotary-Ann party will be held March 1 in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground. The club's annual rural-urban day will be held at the Jan. 28 meeting. David Boyne, chairman of the agricultural and economic department at Ohio State University, Columbus, will be the guest speaker for the event.

Visiting Rotarians were Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Curtis Bower and George Hamrick, both of Circleville. David Finley was a guest with his father, George Finley. Student guests were Randy Rhonemus, of Miami Trace High School, and Kevin Langen, of Washington Senior High School.

Courts

DIVORCE ACTION FILED

Marjorie E. Sword, U.S. 62-S, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court from Tommy D. Sword on grounds of neglect and cruelty. The parties were married here March 24, 1974 and have no children the issue of their union. The plaintiff seeks restoration to her former name of Marjorie E. Brannon.

Joel L. McDonald, Ohio 729, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court from Linda S. McDonald on grounds of neglect of duty. The parties were married Sept. 22, 1962 in Jeffersonville and have two children the issue of their union. The plaintiff is seeking custody of the children.

SUIT DISMISSED

A civil suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Dale Haines, 913 Yeoman St., against Roger Vaughn, Springfield, has been settled and dismissed with prejudice. The plaintiff had been seeking $500 in damages allegedly incurred during an automobile accident involving Vaughn in May, 1974.

Cold slows some corn harvests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year burst upon farmers in a cold blast that put fall-seeded wheat into winter doldrums and caused the corn harvest in some areas to drag on far behind schedule, according to the Agriculture Department.

"Bitter cold slowed winter wheat growth in many areas of the southern Great Plains and western states," the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather report. "Wet field conditions limited grazing of wheat fields over much of the southcentral states. However, grazing was generally above average in the southern half of Texas."

The report covered the week from Dec. 30 through Jan. 5.

"In Kansas, winter wheat received some moisture from snow, but dry conditions still exist in central areas. Dry conditions also limited growth in Colorado," the report said.

"The lack of snow cover on winter wheat in South Dakota hasn't hurt the crop yet because sub-zero weather has been minimal," the report said.

New unemployment legislation set

COLUMBUS — About 100,000 persons, who are not now covered by the Ohio unemployment compensation laws, will become potentially eligible to receive benefits under new federal legislation, Ohio Bureau of Employment Services administrator William E. Garnes has announced.

At the same time President Gerald R. Ford was signing the special unemployment assistance acts in Vail, Colorado, on New Year's Eve, Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan was signing an agreement with the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) which would permit Ohio to participate in the programs.

The new emergency unemployment insurance legislation will permit the payment of unemployment compensation to individuals who have been working in non-covered employment, but who otherwise meet all the criteria of the regular state unemployment compensation law. The new legislation, in addition, provides for the early payment of extended benefits to those who have recently exhausted their regular unemployment compensation benefits. Benefits under both laws will be paid from federal funds.

Garnes pointed out that a modification of the law will be required before Ohio can begin paying extended benefits at the earlier date. It is understood that such legislation will be among the very first pieces of legislation to be submitted to the Ohio General Assembly when it convenes on January 6, 1975.

Assuming the passage of the emergency legislation, individuals will become eligible for extended benefits in the week beginning January 26, 1975.

Individuals potentially eligible for benefits based on non-covered employment or a combination of non-covered and covered employment, were able to file applications in any of the bureau offices beginning Monday.

Garnes said the Ohio benefit rate schedule will apply to those filing claims under the new federal legislation. Examples of those who may now qualify under the new program include farm workers, domestics, and governmental employees in positions not now covered by civil service.

Indians seek own control over future

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — "Indians have always known hard times. Others talk about 7.1 per cent unemployment. Indians, for the most part, have known no employment," says Wendell Chino.

Chino, tribal chairman of the Mescalero Apaches, made the comments Tuesday in opening the third annual National Tribal Chairmen's Association convention, a five-day meeting which is expected to draw some 185 representatives of Indian groups around the nation.

The Mescalero Apache chairman urged that the conference be used as a vehicle to push for a new national policy that would allow Indians to control their own destiny.

"As American Indians, we have been grossly wronged, hurt and abused. But we cannot linger on the past. For too long other people have been telling us what is good for us," he said.

"Let us make America believe that the American Indian is the final arbiter of his own future," said the 50-year-old Chino, chairman of the 2,500-member Mescalero tribe in southern New Mexico for 17 years.

He said any new Indian policy should not try to separate Indians from their land.

"Never before has America found a need for so many of our resources — coal, oil, water, land. But the development of the land and the Indian must go hand in hand," Chino said.

"We must be alert to the moves being made which result in the fragmentation of Indian funds, programs and services."

He said a battle is coming, "not in the fields, but in the halls of Congress. Against the backdrop of uncertainties and the onslaught of the white man, we have maintained our Indian tribes ... and nobody will write us off."

DOWNTOWN WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE

Mrs. Kirk's Kitchen

By GLADYS KIRK

AN INEXPENSIVE FACE LIFT
Almost every house contains interesting and beautiful or painted furniture that have seen better days. You may have an antique stored away or a cherished piece that needs its original beauty restored. Perhaps the furniture that you use every day is beginning to show marks of long service. It's easy to renew old furniture and actually make it more beautiful than every with today's products.

THURSDAY, JAN. 23 — The welcome mat is out to those of you who would like to learn the techniques used in restoring a piece of furniture. George (Bud) Naylor will be demonstrating different finishing techniques from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Grace United Methodist Church. The $1.00 registration fee includes babysitting for pre-schoolers. To register call our office this week at 335-1150. This is an excellent opportunity to get excellent advice and answers from an experienced craftsman.

HOUSEHOLD APPLIANCES HOW LONG WILL THEY LAST?
Buy a new one, keep the old one is a growing trend among families purchasing new refrigerators. Two-refrigerator families, like two-car families, have determined that retaining the old unit is more economical to them than the trade-in value.

The second refrigerator is just one more way many families are using to ease the squeeze on family food budgets. It gives them extra freezer space for storing "good buys" in meat products and it provides extra cooler space for stretching the season on home garden products.

Happy Trails Riding Club plans outing

The monthly meeting of the Happy Trails Riding club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie LeBeau Monday evening.

Since it was so much fun at the holiday parties, everyone is anxious for more. The next meeting will be a combination meeting, potluck and square dance. This will be at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 7 at the Dale Wilson garage in Greenfield. There will be an election of officers at this meeting. Guests will be welcome.

A winter 'Fun Day' is planned at the home of Rudy and Phyllis LeBeau, Post Rd., at 10 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 12. A bon fire will be built and everyone is to bring hot dogs and potluck. In case of snow, all are urged to bring sleds.

Two new members, Larry and Linda Reid, were welcomed to the club. Dr. and Mrs. Michael Riggilo were guests.

Mary Guild meets

Members of the Mary Guild of First Christian Church met in the home of Mrs. Walter Parsley with 15 present. Mrs. Elizabeth Fullerton conducted the meeting and Mrs. Orpha Willis presented devotions by reading from the Books of Genesis, John and Corinthians. She also read articles pertaining to the New Year.

The Lesson Study, taken from the Book of Daniel, was presented by Mrs. Milbourne Flee. A report of shut-ins was made, and it was announced that cheer plates will be prepared at the next meeting, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Russell Knapp.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Parsley, Mrs. Fullerton and Mrs. Walter Elliott.

Rice home is setting for Phi Beta Psi meeting

Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Psi held the first meeting of the New Year in the home of Mrs. Birch Rice. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Bill Hendren and Mrs. Charles Tye.

Mrs. Alfred Hagler and Mrs. Ben Roby announced the annual Antique Show to be held March 7, 8 and 9 in the Mahan Building. Dealers from several states will be showing and selling quality antiques and related objects. The popular addition to the "Country Crafts for Cancer Booth" will be repeated again this year. In cooperation with the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society, the sorority along with many interested local citizens, will be making for sale handcrafted items with all profits benefiting Cancer. Anyone interested in donating items for the Craft Booth should contact Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, Mrs. Don Wald, Mrs. Susan Cleary, Mrs. Rice or Mrs. Tye.

Phi Beta Psi will sponsor the Blood Bank at Grace United Methodist Church Feb. 18 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mary C. West and Mrs. Rice are co-chairmen of this worthwhile project.

Mrs. Ralph Cook and Mrs. Bill Hendren announced the annual Founder's Day Dance will be held from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Feb. 8. A buffet will be served during the evening and Luther Bolen and his orchestra will provide music for dancing. All inactive members are reminded they are welcome to attend the buffet dance, but must make reservations through an active or associate member.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Donald Woods, president, introduced Mrs. Richard Stinson, Gamma chapter member and director of the Miami Trace Folksingers. Mrs. Stinson presented the Folksingers who delighted the active and associate members with several varied musical selections. Refreshments were then served to all by the hostesses.

TURKEY is becoming more popular all the time on American menus. And happily, turkey prices are lower than for many meats. After the main meal of the roast bird, there's nothing quite like good homemade Turkey Soup, spiced with Tabasco pepper sauce.

Nothing warms the heart like homemade turkey soup

The American consumer was delighted to discover at Thanksgiving that one food item had actually gone down in price! And considering it was holiday time, it was an important food at that — Tom Turkey himself. Many markets sold turkeys as much as 20 cents a pound under last year's prices. On a 20-pound bird, this meant a saving of $4.00 — money that would cover some of the Thanksgiving menu extras. Turkey is a good meat to enjoy all through the coming months.

Turkeys are produced now in almost all the states, and are available pretty much the year round. They are a good, economical buy; of course, the larger the bird the smaller the price per pound. But there is little waste — so much of the turkey is good solid meat — and the best is yet to come in the form of delicious second-day treats. The word "leftover" just doesn't do justice to the number of tasty recipes that can be prepared with turkey after the main feast.

Tabasco liquid red pepper sauce gives proper spice to a fine turkey soup you make yourself with the carcass, allowing for approximately three cups of meat. There are few things quite as good as homemade soup. The aroma wafting around the kitchen will start both big and little mouths to watering. If you prefer barley to rice in your turkey soup, add another 30 minutes to the simmering time at the end of the recipe instructions.

Ben Franklin is known to have disputed the choice of the bald eagle for the insignia of the United States. "I wish the Bald Eagle had not been chosen as the Representation of our Country; he is a Bird of bad moral Character. . . The turkey is. . . a much more original native of America."

Well, one thing is sure: he is far more edible!

TURKEY SOUP

Turkey Broth:
1 turkey carcass
8 cups water
1 cup chopped celery with leaves
1 onion, sliced
½ cup chopped carrots
1 bay leaf
4 sprigs parsley
2 whole cloves
¼ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme

Turkey Soup:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped celery with leaves
1 cup sliced pared carrots
6 cups reserved turkey broth
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
3 cups cut-up cooked turkey
2 tablespoons uncooked regular rice

In large kettle combine all ingredients for turkey broth. Cover and simmer 2 hours. Strain. Remove turkey meat from carcass (about 3 cups), cut in pieces and set aside. In large saucepan melt butter, add celery and carrots, and cook 10 minutes. Add reserved turkey broth, salt, Tabasco, turkey and rice. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes.

News chronology

It happened in '74

By The Associated Press
Here is a chronology listing, by date, some of the major news events in 1974:

JANUARY

3: President Nixon signed a bill that increased Social Security benefits by 11 per cent.

7: Brian Faulkner resigned as leader of Northern Ireland's Unionist party but said he would remain as head of the new executive body governing the British province.

13: The Miami Dolphins beat the Minnesota Vikings 24-7 to take football's Super Bowl.

14: A panel of three judges in Maryland held that former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was "unfit" to be a lawyer and should be disbarred in order to "protect the public."

17: Egypt and Israel reached agreement on the separation of their forces along the Suez Canal.

22: Ronald L. Ziegler, the President's press secretary, said President Nixon was ignoring demands he resign, was determined "not to be consumed for another year" by Watergate, and fully intended to serve out the rest of his term.

24: Two Arab terrorists were sentenced to death after pleading guilty to murdering five persons and wounding 55 in a grenade attack at the Athens airport in 1973.

24: Egil Krogh Jr., former head of the White House "plumbers" investigating unit, was sentenced to six months in prison on charges growing out of the burglary of the office of the psychiatrist who had treated Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

28: The Israeli army lifted its siege of Suez City and evacuated a large surrounding area, handing it over to the United Nations.

28: Herbert L. Porter, a former official of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, pleaded guilty to a charge of lying to the FBI in an early inquiry into the Watergate case.

31: A Pan American World Airways plane crashed and burned in American Samoa, killing 96 of the 101 persons aboard the flight from New Zealand to the United States.

FEBRUARY

4: Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was dragged screaming from her apartment in Berkeley, Calif., by kidnappers who were later identified as members of a terrorist group calling itself the Symbionese Liberation Army.

4: President Nixon sent Congress a $304.4 billion budget which he described as one of "moderate restraint" on the economy.

6: The House formally ratified an investigation into President Nixon's conduct in office and authorized the Judiciary Committee to subpoena anyone who might have pertinent information.

7: Negotiators for striking truck operators called for an end to the work stoppage after the government granted a 6 per cent increase in freight rates to ease the impact of higher fuel costs.

8: Five Palestinian guerrillas who had seized the Japanese embassy in Kuwait released their hostages and flew to Southern Yemen on a Japanese airliner. The plane had carried four other extremists from Singapore, where they had tied to blow up an oil refinery.

8: Three Skylab astronauts returned safely to earth after 84 days in orbit, the longest manned space flight to date.

10: Britain's 260,000 coal miners left the coal fields, rebuffing an appeal by Prime Minister Edward Heath to postpone their strike until after the Feb. 28 national election.

13: Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, the Soviet author who won a Nobel prize for his book the Gulag Archipelago, had his Soviet citizenship taken away and was exiled to West Germany for what authorities said was "performing systematically actions incompatible with being a citizen."

17: A soldier landed a stolen Army helicopter on the White House lawn. Pfc. Robert K. Preston, 20, was wrestled to the ground by protection officers after landing about 100 yards from the White House.

19: The Senate Watergate Committee, explaining that it did not want to interfere with the impeachment process and criminal trials of Watergate figures, decided not to hold further public hearings.

21: J. Reginald Murphy, editorial page editor of the Atlanta Constitution, was kidnapped.

22: Pakistan recognized the independence of Bangladesh, her former eastern wing.

22: The kidnapers of J. Reginald Murphy freed him unharmed in Atlanta after his newspaper paid a $700,000 ransom. A man charged with the kidnapping was arrested a short time later.

22: A gunman fatally shot an airport policeman and the copilot of a Delta Air Lines jet while trying to hijack the plane at Baltimore-Washington International Airport. He later died of a self-inflicted wound.

25: Herbert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's personal lawyer and one of his chief fund raisers, pleaded guilty to allegations that he promised an ambassador a better assignment in return for a $100,000 campaign contribution and that he helped run an illegal 1970 congressional campaign committee.

28: Egypt and the United States announced that they would resume diplomatic relations after a breach of seven years.

Burley tobacco prices decline

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's only burley tobacco market recorded its third active day of auctioning Tuesday, but the flurry didn't keep the average from dropping almost $2 per hundredweight.

One burley farmer said the decline may be the first indication of a general downward pattern, since much of the remaining tobacco is green.

UP FOR GRABS — Weigher Australia Thomas displays a gold brick of approximately 28 pounds at the U.S. Assay office in New York City. The gold on display in the room represents over half of the two million ounces put on the auctioning block by the federal government in an effort to prevent foreign gold from pouring into the United States. Guard Charles A. Sacco looks on at left.

Better locks foil Palm Springs thugs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A year ago the police in this plush desert resort city decided to lock out burglars. It's working. At a time when inflation is driving everything up, the crime rate here is going down.

Palm Springs is a monied mecca that attracts burglars and hotel thieves.

It's a favorite watering hole for Hollywood celebrities. Such stars as Frank Sinatra and Bob Hope have homes here. It's the playground for the rich and famous. Dwight D. Eisenhower played golf here when he was President. So did former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Financed by a $32,000 federal grant, Palm Springs' crime prevention program is deceptively simple.

"It's nothing that's overly new," said Police Chief Robert White. "Last January we started inspecting homes so that we could recommend better security against burglars."

Homeowners are shown how to keep burglars out by such means as dead bolt locks and window guards. In some areas, block captains work with the police to keep people informed.

In order to test the program's effectiveness, police set up two middle-class areas for comparison.

In the White Water Country Club area, every home was inspected personally by a member of the Crime Prevention Bureau. In the Racquet Club area, the homes were not inspected.

Burglaries in the White Water area — which was inspected — dropped 69 per cent in 1974 over 1973. Break-ins went from 23 to just seven.

In the Racquet Club area, burglaries jumped 100 per cent. The area had 54 burglaries last year, compared to 27 in 1973.

Palm Springs' success in bringing down residential and commercial burglaries is attracting attention elsewhere in vast Riverside County. The sheriff's department and police in Banning and Indio are considering adopting the program.

Complete figures for 1974 were not available, but Detective Bob Alvis said by last October commercial burglaries, including hotel thefts, were down 22 per cent and home burglaries were down 6.5 per cent compared to the similar period in 1973. We recommend a grill for louvered windows."

Alvis said everything in a person's home should be marked with the owner's driver's license number. The police also recommend photographing every room and all paintings and jewelry.

Finally, police give out stickers for windows that read: "All items of value contained within have been marked for ready identification by law enforcement agencies."

TV Viewing

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Is the hyena a victim of bad public relations? Author-scientist Jane Goodall thinks so, and she will plead her case on a television special.

The show is "The Hyena Story," and it will appear on ABC TV this spring. Miss Goodall was here for a lecture at the California Institute of Technology and she paused over coffee to explain her interest in the hyena: "When my son was very young, it was necessary for me to leave my studies with the chimpanzees because they have been known to prey on small children. So we moved from Gombe to the Serengeti Plain and that's where I was attracted to hyenas.

"They are much more individualistic than the antelope, for instance. Antelopes need only to smell, hear and run fast. Carnivores have a much more complex brain, since hunters need other faculties to stalk their prey as well as avoid being preyed upon.

"Hyenas have this reputation for being cowardly, skulking creatures who steal other animals' kills. Indeed they do scavenge, but they are also excellent hunters. They will attack animals as large as zebras and even harrass a mother rhino to get at her baby. That doesn't seem fair, since the rhino is such an unwieldy creature.

"Hyenas will often drive a lioness away from her kill. Lions, on the other hand, will prey on hyenas' kill. So when you see photographs of hyenas waiting for a lion to finish eating, it might well be their dinner, not his."

Miss Goodall said that the public's mis-information about hyenas may be due to the fact that there are few experts on the beasts. They are hard to study, since most of their hunting and other activity takes place at night. Then how could they be photographed for the TV special? "With floodlights," she explained. "Hyenas, like lions, have a peculiar ability to look through lights; the glare doesn't seem to bother them. Perhaps that is a faculty of carnivores. I have observed hyenas by moonlight, and I find that they behave no differently from how they act under the floodlights."

Bomb blast fatal to 3

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Police say a suitcase bomb apparently was responsible for the explosion in a Cleveland home late Tuesday night which killed three persons and left three others critically injured.

The explosion ripped apart a frame house in a middle class Polish neighborhood on the city's south side shortly before midnight.

Authorities at St. Alexis Hospital identified the dead as Maryanne Sigley, 21, her two-year-old son, Michael, and Burdell Offitt, 26.

Listed in critical condition today at Metropolitan General Hospital were nine-month old Steven Sigley; Deborah Slepko, 16, and her husband, John, 21.

According to police, Offitt told authorities shortly before he died that he had found a suitcase on the front porch of the house and had taken it inside, where it exploded seconds later.

The blast knocked the front and side walls of the house off their foundation and shattered windows in adjoining houses.

Capt. Gerald Holman of the Cleveland fire rescue squad said that all the dead and injured apparently were in the same room on the first floor of the house at the time of the explosion.

"When we got there Mrs. Slepko was lying outside and her husband was walking around in a daze," Holman said.

"The baby was crawling around. The others were under the rubble inside." Authorities said Offitt was visiting the house at the time of the explosion and lived with his mother elsewhere in Cleveland.

Police said they had not yet established a motive for the apparent bombing.

Soybean vote set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some 55,000 Ohio soybean producers will get a second chance March 3-5 to vote on a proposed soybean marketing program.

M. David Urmston, assistant director of Ohio Department of Agriculture, announced the referendum Tuesday after reviewing testimony presented at a public hearing on Monday.

Urmston said a similar referendum failed last year because too few soybean producers took part but the testimony showed enough support to warrant another vote this year.

Ohio already operates marketing programs for beef, turkeys, apples and eggs.

Under the program, one-half cent per bushel would be checked off on all soybeans sold in Ohio. The money would be used to finance programs for foreign market development, promotion and research.

Women police officers fight job loss

WESTPORT, Wash. (AP) — Confronted with having to pay policewomen the same as policemen, the mayor of this small coastal community took immediate action.

Bill Wade told the women to turn in their badges.

"My God, we can't even afford our male officers," Wade said. "If we had to pay equal salaries to the women, it would break the town."

The state Human Rights Commission told officials here they would be required to bring women officers up to salary levels of men.

So, the women are now civilian clerk-dispatchers.

"I'm going to fight this," said Nancy Breitsprecher, the most experienced officer, male or female, in the department. "I can't just sit and take it."

Mrs. Breitsprecher, 38, is one of five women on the force. She was also the senior sergeant in the department, and the second in command until last week.

Women until then composed half the town's police force. They handled dispatching duties, took 'walk-in' complaints and conducted many of the department's routine crime investigations.

And says Mrs. Breitsprecher, "I have too many years invested in this force just to sit quietly and be stripped of my commission. If economy is needed, why didn't they start with the least senior man? Why just the women?"

Wade estimated equal salaries for the five women officers would cost Westport $1,000 more each month. And Wade said the town has trouble supporting the force now.

Mrs. Breitsprecher, who has been on the force almost six years, said her salary was only $575, while the top minimum for a male patrolman was $700 a month.

Westport is a fishing resort town, whose population triples in the summer. But during the slack winter months, there is one police officer for every 140 residents. And the mayor says, "I knew the town could never go for 10 full patrolman salaries. That's why I did what I did."

NO NEW CROSSINGS — Although the much needed improvement of Washington C.H. railroad crossings has not yet materialized, at least residents will be well warned that they are approaching the rails. New signs are being installed at all area crossings, compliments of the State of Ohio. The signs and their installation are being paid for by the state because of the high fatality rate in train-automobile collisions. Rex Bloomer, of Bloomingburg, is the state official supervising the project in Fayette, Pickaway, Madison and Franklin counties.

Traffic Court

Nine persons were fined Tuesday by acting Municipal Court Judge Omar A. Schwart in a heavy docket of traffic cases filed by Washington C.H. police officers.

Two defendants were fined and sentenced on charges of driving while intoxicated.

James Downs, 31, of 525 Fourth St., was fined $250, sentenced to six days in jail with his driver's license suspended for six months after he pleaded guilty to the DWI charge. He also received a six-month suspended sentence pending one year good behavior and an additional $100 fine when he pleaded guilty to a second charge of driving under revocation.

Patricia Nelson Carmen, 30, of 701 Blackstone Ave., also pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. She was fined $200, sentenced to three days in jail and received a 30-day suspension of her driver's license. An additional charge of reckless operation netted a $50 fine.

Others fined were:

Robert E. Wolfe, 21, of 332 Western Ave., $35; speeding; Edwin E. Hafer, 22, Greenfield, $25, traveling down one-way street; Nancy L. College questions museum's curator

B.E. Kelley, curator of the Fayette County Museum, has been interviewed by two men from Wright State University who filmed and tape recorded the discussion for use in classrooms.

Kelley and some of the leading archaeologists in the nation have been investigating ancient iron furnaces which are believed to have been in operation in Ohio nearly 2,000 years ago.

It has long been believed that the vikings were the first to smelt iron in America but it had also been believed that they first landed on this continent only 1,000 years ago. If the iron furnaces prove to be 2,000 years old, one of the two previous theories will have to be modified.

Phillip Krauss, Springfield, and Johathan Graubarth, Yellow Springs, who taped the interview, hope to use part of it on a television program.

Advisory council named by DeMolay

The annual reorganization meeting of the advisory council for the Fayette Chapter, Order of DeMolay, was held Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple.

Appointed to serve on the council during 1972 were David C. Six, chairman; Walter D. Haines, vice chairman; Wilbur D. Bullock, dad advisor; John E. Rhoads, membership advisor; Everett Vance, activities advisor; Charles L. Zinn, athletic advisor; David L. Baughn, scribe advisor; Robert Provost, transportation advisor; Dennis Hawk, ritual advisor; Dale Haines, representative DeMolay advisor, and Clifford E. Hughes, advisor.

Deere resigns post

B'burg solons elect Simpson as president

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg village council met Tuesday night to elect new officers for the coming year.

Michael Simpson was elected president of the council, succeeding Mrs. Irene Grim, who has served in that capacity for the past seven years.

Ray Deere, the senior member of council, resigned his post for personal reasons. He had been on the council for the past eight years, and council members expressed their regret in accepting his resignation.

Village mayor Max E. Grim appointed Daniel H. Thompson to fill Deere's unexpired term on the Paint Township Cemetery board of trustees. The term expires in 1977.

Committee assignments for 1975 were: finance, Mrs. Grim, David Johnson and Simpson; drainage, Thompson, Simpson and Johnson; sidewalks, Mrs. Patty Jenkins, Thompson and another to be named later; streets, Johnson, Mrs. Grim, and Mrs. Jenkins; and street lights, Simpson, Mrs. Jenkins and another to be named later.

Council adopted the proposed draft of 1975 appropriations totaling approximately $60,000. Included in the budget were monies for the general fund, $16,000; street construction, $8,000; highway improvement, $2,000; fire equipment, $5,500; federal revenue sharing projects, $14,000 and water department funds of $13,000.

Two building permits were approved. Christopher Dray had requested permission to erect a single family dwelling on Miron Street, and Earl Robson had asked to build a one-car garage at 46 Biddle Blvd.

Council renewed for another year its contract with the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, and resolved to participate in the county disaster services program.

Ordinances raising the salary of water superintendent Bert Ison from $100 to $160 per month and raising the salary of the clerk-treasurer Robert Grim $300 per year were approved by council. The clerk-treasurer hike will not become effective until next year.

Routine bills in the amount of $1,371 were approved for payment.

Officers named by two lodges

Officers for the new year were elected recently during the regular month meeting of the joint Fraternal Order of Police and Fraternal Order of Police Auxiliary, in the meeting room in the Fayette County rescue unit building on N. Fayette Street.

New officers for F.O.P. Lodge No. 99 are president, John Emrick; vice president, William Crooks; secretary, Charles Foster; treasurer, Virgil Harris; chaplain, Larry Hott; conductor, Dennis Brown; and trustees, Larry Walker, Donald Cox and Loren Butcher.

New officers for F.O.P.A. Lodge No. 56 are president, Ralston Smith; vice president, John Bane; secretary, Eugene Denen; treasurer, William Black; chaplain, Ted Yoakum; conductor, Jerry Coffey; guard, Roy Morris; trustees, Dan Hidy, Richard Sexton and Dr. Phillip Binzel.

Members and their guests viewed a movie produced by the U.S. Air Force about the Xenia tornado and the next regular meeting was slated for Feb. 3.

Defense key to Lions' chances

By LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

"We are still in the race, but we are going to have to play all of our games one at a time from this point on," indicated Washington coach Gary Shaffer. "At this point, since we already have two losses and Circleville is still undefeated, every game is crucial for us."

The Blue Lions are presently holding third place in the South Central Ohio League record with a 3-2 league mark and 4-4 record overall. This Friday, Washington will complete the first round of league play by traveling to Hillsboro, which is 2-3 in the SCOL and 4-3 overall. On Tuesday, Circleville, the league frontrunner with a 6-0 league mark and 10-0 record overall, will be in Court House.

Last Friday's 63-53 win over Miami Trace may put a different light on the outcome of the Lions' season play. Despite having two guards suspended from the team, Washington played its best defensive game of the season.

"Defense is the big thing for us now," Shaffer continued. "Last Friday, the big boys - Doug Phillips, John Denen and Ken Upthegrove, worked together and talked a lot to each other on defense."

"I really do not think the suspensions had any reflection on us jumping out to a 9-0 lead over Miami Trace," Shaffer added. "I believe it was just the idea of playing Miami Trace which got the boys fired up."

With both of the suspensions coming at the guard positions, Shaffer is now left with three guards on the varsity team. In addition to starters Chuck Byrd and Mark Shaw, the Lions' lone backup guard is Scott Sefton. However, with the reserve team being hit by six suspensions, Sefton now plays three quarters for the reserve team, which leaves him with one quarter of play for the varsity.

Since neither Shaw or Byrd ran into foul trouble or suffered an injury, Shaffer was not forced to use Sefton against the Panthers. However, this week may present a different situation, so the Lion mentor has been looking for another guard during his practices. Top prospects for the guard role are Randy Jamison, who is also playing on the reserve team, and Denen, who Shaffer considers to be one of the better ball handlers on the squad.

During the win over Miami Trace, Shaffer only used six players in the contest. This was the fewest amount of players Shaffer has ever used in a game.

"I knew several of the boys were tired, but they were all doing a good job on the floor," remarked the Lion coach. "Miami Trace's press really took a lot out of some of our players."

"Byrd did an outstanding job of taking over as the floor leader for us," Shaffer said. "Along with the 26 points, he also had 12 rebounds."

Shaffer said he really does not know that much about Hillsboro. In the past, the Indians have been noted for running a half court trap on defense.

Thus far this season, center Tim Fuller and forward Mike Sharkey have been the two major threats for the Indians. Fuller has been averaging 10.1 points per game, while Sharkey has been tossing in 15.7 points.

"Sharkey is a good all-around ball player," Shaffer noted. "Not only does he score well, but he also rebounds and has a good head on his shoulders."

Last year's leading scorer in the SCOL, Kevin Bailey, has been off to a very slow start. Sitting out three games with a sprained ankle, Bailey has scored an average of 7.5 points in four games.

In the first meeting between the Lions and Circleville, Washington came out on the lower end of the 71-48 score on the Tigers' court.

"Our boys are looking forward to the challenge," Shaffer replied. "We need a good defensive effort and if we do not beat them this time, then we have no excuses."

"Not only do we have to keep guard Perry Hoskins from driving the middle on us, but we also have to do a good job on Harold Reed, George Moore and Biff Bumgarner," he continued. "We will probably play a lot of zones and try to keep them off the boards as much as possible. Most of their scoring has come from within short range, so we will try to keep them to the outside as much as possible."

All four of the players Shaffer has warned his team about are averaging in double figures. Hoskins carries a 11.4 average, Bumgarner is averaging 10.2, Moore carries a 15.5 point production and Reed has been coming through with 13.9 points per game. However, in the last three games, Reed's lowest output has been 22 points.

The Circleville team has a habit of drawing a lot of fouls. Already this season, the Tigers have won three of their games from the charity stripe.

When the Tigers and Lions clash, someone's undefeated string will have to come to an end. While the Tigers are 5-0 on opponents' courts, the Lions are 3-0 at home.

Louisville downs Cincinnati, 82-74

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It was an important game for the Cincinnati Bearcats, but just another game for the Louisville Cardinals.

As a result, the Bearcats played like tigers and the Cardinals were for the birds.

"I wouldn't call this our worst game

Hawks top Cavaliers

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Cotton Fitzsimmons likes finishing on top.

His Atlanta Hawks haven't been doing enough of it lately, but Tuesday night was another matter.

"I sure did enjoy winning," said Fitzsimmons, coach of the Hawks, who trimmed the Cleveland Cavaliers 113-112 in overtime behind a career-high 30 points by rookie Tom Henderson.

The first-year backcourtman from Hawaii sank a 15-foot jumper at the buzzer to send the game into overtime, then scored four points in the extra session to help Atlanta to only its third victory in the last 10 National Basketball Association games.

"It was a great lift for our morale," said Fitzsimmons of the victory. "Before the game I told them to take a stand and play the best you can, but I didn't tell them to win. I know my guys are trying, but sometimes they play a little scared."

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Golden State Warriors routed the New Orleans Jazz 136-94, the Chicago Bulls beat the Houston Rockets 106-97, the Buffalo Braves defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 115-107, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings topped the Milwaukee Bucks 108-99 and the Portland Trail Blazers downed the New York Knicks 106-92.

In the only game in the American Basketball Association, the Memphis Sounds beat the Spirits of St. Louis 118-110.

Bruins tie Capitals, 3-3

By The Associated Press

The big, bad Boston Bruins were in a big, bad mood Tuesday night. And no wonder—they were tied by the little, bad Washington Capitals.

"They just feel very bad," said Coach Don Cherry, who wouldn't let reporters into his dressing room after the 3-3 National Hockey League game. "They don't want to see anyone."

It was understandable.

The Capitals, with their 3-3-5 record, are recognized as the worst team in the NHL. The Bruins, with their remarkable tradition and 22-10-6 record this year, are recognized as one of the best.

The tie was especially a shock to the Bruins, since they had punished the Capitals 10-4 and 12-1 in their last two meetings.

In night's other NHL games, the California Golden Seals whipped the St. Louis Blues 3-2 and the New York Islanders beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3.

Rookie Mike Marson scored two goals and assisted on a third as the Capitals ended a nine-game losing streak. Marson had his second two-goal night of the season.

Boston led three times, only to fall victim to rallies by the expansion Caps. Pete Laframboise, who assisted on the two Marson goals, scored the game's tying goal at 3:51 of the third period.

Jeff Montgomery top MAC player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green guard Jeff Montgomery, whose 20 points and defensive performance helped the Falcons nip Toledo, is the opening Mid-American Conference Basketball Player of the Week.

but I wouldn't say it's our best," said Denny Crum after his lackluster Cardinals got by Cincinnati with just enough effort Tuesday night, 82-74.

Crum pointed out that his third-ranked basketball team was not especially keyed up for the game, which had no bearing on the Missouri Valley Conference race.

"We didn't play too well," said Crum.

"But I don't try to get them up for non-league games. The fact that we can win by eight points and play poorly says something—we're not that bad."

"They're an independent and this was a big game for them. You always have a tendency to play better against a highly-ranked team. If they could play that well against the rest of the teams they play, they probably would win them all."

While Louisville was looking ahead to the Missouri Valley Conference race, Cincinnati was looking at Louisville.

"We've been thinking about Louisville for a long time," said Cincinnati Coach Gale Catlett. "Louisville is a fine basketball team. It's hard to say that this is our best game because we lost. When you get satisfied with defeat in this business, you'd better get out. But I wasn't worried about getting the team up."

The contest was the only one involving a ranked team Tuesday night. In other games, Wichita State stunned Long Beach State 75-46; Ohio beat Missouri 78-65; Florida State trimmed the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee 104-82; Columbia beat Kings Point 89-71; Lafayette upset Princeton 73-67; Hardin-Simmons nipped Texas Christian 75-74; Brown whipped Rhode Island 75-66; Centenary beat Arkansas 74-72; Baylor defeated Lamar 79-78 in overtime; Bucknell routed Rochester 105-64; Towson State trimmed Delaware 82-71 and Cleveland State turned back Buffalo 74-63.

In tournament play, Stetson beat American University 71-65 in overtime to win the Hatter Classic in Deland, Fla., and Texas beat South Alabama 80-75 to win the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala.

Miller set to defend Phoenix Open title

PHOENIX (AP) — Johnny Miller stopped short of predicting a victory in defense of his Phoenix Open Golf crown, but had a word of warning for his outstanding field of opponents in this $150,000 event that opens the 1975 tour.

"I don't think that last season was really a fluke," he said. "They're gonna have to put up with me for a long time."

"Right now I'm playing as good as I can play."

That was good enough to acquire eight American tournament titles, a record moneywinning accumulation and Golfer of the Year honors for Miller in 1974.

Miller made the comments before a practice round Wednesday over the relatively short, flat Phoenix Country

Few bright spots in future of WFL

by CRAIG AMMERMAN
AP Sports Writer

The World Football League still has Larry Csonka, Paul Warfield and Jim Kick lined up for 1975. But that is one of the few bright spots the league can point to as it approaches a decision on its very existence with few optimistic signs publicly evident.

The league has set a March 1 deadline to find eight to 10 franchises which are solvent and capable of enduring the kind of losses which sent the WFL into a severe tailspin in its first season. As of a month ago, there were only three such franchises and there is no public indication that even a fourth has been found yet.

Meanwhile, the league's other problems continue to mount. Some of its National Football League signees are seeking to get out of their contracts, and perhaps the biggest name the league had signed, Ken Stabler, was successful in doing just that.

In addition, some existing franchises virtually have ceased to exist, creditors are anxious for payment and many players are anxious to finally receive their back salaries.

League President Chris Hemminger pledged to say nothing about the league's rebuilding effort until those efforts—aimed at finding investors willing to lose considerable money until the league can sign a major television contract—were complete. It is possible that he and other league officials are finding some success in their search, but, if so, it has gone unnoticed.

The most recent blow was the loss of Stabler, the Oakland quarterback selected by The Associated Press as the NFL's Offensive Player of the Year. Stabler was released from his contract with the WFL's Birmingham franchise because a judge ruled the team failed to pay him bonuses provided for in a contract.

Cleveland's Bob McKay and the New York Giants' Craig Morton are among other NFL players who have vowed they will seek a release from their WFL contracts.

The most serious dilemma facing this league is the poor financial condition of many of its franchises.

Only Philadelphia, Memphis and Hawaii, which among them lost more than $5 million last season (the league lost at least $20 million), were considered stable enough to continue one month ago. With a decision approaching on when and if it can hold a college draft, the WFL must have more than three solvent franchises, and there is no real indication that it has any more than that now.

Whether you are riding a racehorse or the crest of your basketball team's winning streak, it's wise to watch out for the other guy.

The Kentucky State Thoroughbreds, 8-0 after Monday night's 78-69 victory over Wabash, again were voted the No. 1 college division basketball team in The Associated Press weekly poll and Coach Lucias Mitchell feels it's because he's driving his team "defensively."

"Defense is what counts," says Mitchell, "and my team has become extremely effective. We block well and force the other guys to take bad shots."

"Now we have a new fella, Ross Smith, in the starting lineup and he's gonna be fantastic. He started for the first time on Monday night and he got 11 rebounds, blocked seven shots and scored 12 points. He benched Andre Hampton, our seven-footer!"

The 6-foot-8 Smith, a sophomore transfer from Lincoln U., still trails the average performance of 6-foot-7 star forward Gerald Cunningham, who is averaging 16 rebounds and 25 points per game.

Kentucky State retained the top spot in the rankings for the fourth week with 22 first-place votes and 405 points.

The New Orleans Privateers, 9-0, climbed from fourth to second place on the strength of three straight victories last week, receiving seven first-plac votes and 285 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. The Privateers defeated Wabash 106-80, Xavier, La. 126-71 and Northwest Oklahoma 104-63.

Gardner-Webb, No. 2 a week ago, fell to third place with three first-place votes and 242 points. The Bulldogs bowed to Elon 75-67, then recovered to trample Campbellsville 101-80.

Jackson State rose from fifth place to fourth after blitzing Southern University of New Orleans 102-78, collecting one first-place vote and 193 points. Next was Eastern Illinois, up from sixth place, with 181 points.

Tennessee-Chattanooga slipped three places to sixth following its 103-87 loss to South Florida, drawing 146 points.

Old Dominion remained No. 7, attracting 115 points for a 61-55 decision over William & Mary. Bentley, idle last week, climbed from ninth to eighth place in the rankings, drawing 110 points. Morgan State, also inactive, dropped a notch to ninth with 62 points.

The voters awarded 48 points to Southern University, preserving its 10th-ranked status. Southern, 9-0, slammed Mt. Scenario 112-53 before being trounced by Jackson State.

EMU defeats Akron, 66-64

By The Associated Press

The University of Akron charged back from an 11-point halftime deficit to move ahead of Eastern Michigan, but was unable to hold the lead and finally was edged 66-64 to top Ohio college basketball action Tuesday night.

Eastern Michigan held a 36-25 halftime edge, but the Zips fought back to tie it at 49-all with 6:29 remaining. Akron then went ahead 64-63, but Bob Riddle put in a bucket for Eastern with 11 seconds remaining and was fouled on the play. He hit on the free throw, giving Michigan the winning margin.

Also in northeast Ohio, Wilber Starks and Gale Drummer combined for 41 points to lead Cleveland State to a 74-63 victory over Buffalo.

In Ohio Conference action, Denison fought off a late Capital rally to defeat the Crusaders 55-51, while Kenyon defeated Marietta 65-63.

At Athens, Ohio University built on a 36-28 halftime lead and defeated Missouri 78-65, while third-ranked Louisville overcame a charged-up Cincinnati squad 82-74.

Rounding out the Top 15 were Armstrong State, formerly 13th; Assumption, down from 11th after losing to Holy Cross 107-88; newcomer Augustana, S.D., Youngstown and Cameron. Alcor dropped from the rankings.

NCAA eyes one-platoon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association takes up today a proposal to return to one-platoon football—an issue that has generated only lukewarm sentiment and is overwhelmingly opposed by the nation's coaches.

The NCAA continues the business meeting of its 69th convention, which began Monday afternoon with votes taken on only one-fifth of the 151 proposals. Most measures discussed Monday were of a technical nature.

In addition to the return to one-platoon football, the convention delegates also will vote on a resolution indicating whether they want the NCAA committee on women's intercollegiate sports to develop the program in time for this spring's men's championships in track and field and tennis.

The committee also was to study the feasibility of holding national championships in 10 other sports over the next three school years.

David Swank of Oklahoma University, committee chairman, said there was some sentiment among the delegates that a vote be taken on a resolution to see if the convention as a whole approves the idea.

The one-platoon proposal was made by the University of Oregon in an effort to cut down on the rising costs of collegiate athletics because of inflation.

Most delegates, however, believe that other methods such as trimming coaching staffs would be more effective than abolishing the two-platoon system now in use and return to the rules that prevailed prior to 1963.

Fighting Saints

defeat Cougars, 4-2

By The Associated Press

The key to success in sports, so the theory goes, is to break even on the road and then roll up a winning record at home.

But the Chicago Cougars can't even break even at home.

"Our home record is a brutal 6-10-1," observed Chicago Coach Pat Stapleton Tuesday night after his Cougars dropped a 4-2 decision to the Minnesota Fighting Saints at the Chicago Amphitheatre.

Anderson picks Pittsburgh win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ken Anderson, pass master of the Cincinnati Bengals, has faced the fierce rush of Super Bowl titans Pittsburgh and Minnesota — and beaten both.

He sees Pittsburgh's "Steel Curtain" defense as the difference in Sunday's National Football League finale.

"I'm going with Pittsburgh, mostly because of their great defense," said Anderson, who has beaten the Steelers twice in the past two seasons and engineered a shocking 27-0 rout of Minnesota in 1973.

Anderson and Miami's Bob Griese are the only two NFL quarterbacks who have beaten both teams in the past two seasons.

Hillsboro clips Wildcats, 71-70

Coming from behind to outscore Blanchester by five points in the final period, Hillsboro won its fifth game of the season by nipping the Wildcats 71-70.

Mike Sharkey and Tim Fuller led the scoring attack for the Indians. Both players had 18 points. Al McKenzie and Barry Zink each had 10 points in the contest.

Four players also hit double figures for the losers. Tony Johnson took scoring honors for the game with 19. Dale Karp tossed in 16 markers, while Mark Ballinger and Mike Stockton had 12 and 11 points, respectively.

With the victory, the Indians are now 5-3 for the season. Hillsboro, which is 2-3 in the South Central Ohio League, hosts Washington Court House this Friday.

Box score

HILLSBORO (71) Bailey 3-0-6; Sharkey 9-0-18; T. Fuller 9-0-18; McKenzie 4-2-10; Zink 4-2-10; and Seeling 3-3-9. Total: 32-7-71.

BLANCHESTER (70) — Ballinger 6-0-12; Karp 5-6-16; Burns 4-1-9; Johnson 8-3-19; Moore 0-1-1; Stockton 0-2-2; and Brooks 5-1-11. Total: 28-14-70.

Tarkenton blasts critics

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The marshmallow mood of Super Bowl IX, and perhaps a touch of Minnesota's confidence as well, was burned around the edges Tuesday when quarterback Fran Tarkenton lit into a couple of 1974's also-rans.

Tarkenton lambasted Oakland Raiders' quarterback Ken Stabler and tossed in Miami Dolphins wide receiver Paul Warfield for good measure, taking umbrage at the two stars who took some verbal swipes at both the Vikings and their Sunday foes, the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Tarkenton's blast woke up this slumbering Super Bowl city, whose primary preoccupation in the preceding 24 hours had been the severity—or lack of it—of a viral infection which sent Pittsburgh defensive end Dwight White to a hospital.

White, incidentally, in the hospital a third night as a precautionary measure, was expected to be back at the Steelers' camp today, on his way to a recovery that would have him joining his defensive linemates in storming Tarkenton when the teams meet in Tulane Stadium for the National Football League championship.

A few hours after Tarkenton's verbal shots, the Vikings suffered a physical one when starting left tackle Charles Goodrum pulled a muscle in his right thigh, an injury that was expected to keep him out of the contest.

But the blow isn't considered serious. Replacing Goodrum will be Grady Alderman, a 15-year veteran who started the Vikings' two other Super Bowl games.

And that would send Alderman against either White or, possibly, his replacement, Steve Furness.

Tarkenton provided the first Super Bowl controversy since exactly a year ago, when his coach, Bud Grant, complained about the seedy conditions of the Vikings' practice facilities (remember the sparrows in the showers?) at Houston, scene of the 1974 title game.

Warfield reportedly said a half-healthy Miami squad could beat either the Steelers or the Vikings. Stabler, meanwhile, suggested that the NFL's two best teams—one of them Oakland—weren't playing for the title.

"I read that Stabler and Warfield said that the best teams aren't here," Tarkenton fumed. "Evidently they were not the rules of the game before the game started."

"I think that Mr. Rozelle said the rules were that, in order to win and get a chance at the Super Bowl, you had to make the playoffs," Tarkenton said, referring to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. "And then the rules were that you had to win the first playoff game and then the (conference) championship."

"And evidently nobody told Stabler that because he thinks Oakland is the best team."

The Raiders were the best team—until Dec. 29. They had a 12-2 regular-season record, tops in the league, and knocked off the defending Super Bowl champion Dolphins 28-26 in the first round of the playoffs, with Stabler throwing four touchdown passes.

But they became only secondbest to the Steelers in the American Conference championship, losing 24-13 with Pittsburgh intercepting three of Stabler's passes and turning two of them into touchdowns.

Walking Against the Wind

People who have chronic lung conditions such as asthma, emphysema, bronchitis and bronchiectasis find that they are more distressed when they walk rapidly against the wind. This is similar to the discomfort that happens to people with heart disease, especially those who suffer from anginal pain.

A great deal of extra energy is consumed when walking against the wind. This places an extra burden on the heart and lungs and taxes their reserve strength.

The elderly, even in the absence of heart and lung conditions, may feel a sense of fatigue with the special exertion of walking in cold weather. These same people may have a feeling of breathlessness and added pain over the chest after a particularly heavy meal.

When the stomach is overloaded, more blood is brought to the stomach to aid in digestion. In many instances, the heart muscle must work harder to pump the additional blood to the stomach. The heart muscle itself may be deprived of its own vital blood supply. Pain over the chest wall reflects the heart's plea for rest.

Many doctors recommend one of the many special heat masks that can be worn over the nose and mouth to protect against cold and wind.

Even unheated masks are beneficial and can alleviate the distress caused by the sharp bite of cold air.

At first, some people may be embarrassed to wear a mask. However, they will soon see that they are not alone. Their comfort is so great they soon overcome the first uneasy feelings.

Many middle-aged and elderly people spend months in hospital because of fractured hips that might easily have been avoided.

In inclement weather, with rain, snow, slush and sleet, the added security provided by a cane can be tremendous. Tips of the cane should be made of nonskid material.

Armco chief sees upswing during 1975

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite severe economic pressures, all is not gloomy in the steel business, according to the chairman of one of the world's largest steel producers.

William Verity, chairman of the board of Armco Steel Corp., said experts in his company are hopeful of an upswing in 1975.

"We certainly aren't looking upon our steel group as a disaster area," Verity said. His remarks were prepared for delivery Tuesday before a security analyst group.

Verity said capacity level production has continued at several plants supplying products for energy, heavy construction, ship building and agricultural markets.

He said flat rolled production will remain down at least through the second quarter, but will hopefully rebound in 1975.

Armco economists foresee a 13 per cent decline in industrywide steel shipments for the year.

Contributing factors for the lag are likely to be found in slumping areas such as appliance, automotive and housing industries. The liquidation of inventories by steel customers has hurt too, he said.

But the major "negative factors for the year," Verity said, will be the still-rising costs of raw materials, labor and services and the combination of shortages and greater expense for energy.

"Sharp reductions this month in the supply of natural gas have already limited production at several of our steel plants and threatens our capacity of tubular products for oil and gas drilling," he said.

Growing demands for more oil, gas drilling rigs and supporting equipment have led to expansion by Armco's enterprise group in manufacturing plants at Gainesville and Houston, Tex., and Torrance, Calif.

Warren Harding dinner slated

MARION, Ohio (AP) — The Warren G. Harding Day dinner is the new name of the Marion County Republican Club's annual evening event which will be held in early spring this year.

The sponsors changed the name from the Lincoln Day dinner held in February to commemorate Harding, the 29th president, who lived in the city from 1891 to 1921.

The first tall clocks in England more than two centuries ago were known as long-case clocks.

Two drivers cited in city accidents

Two drivers were cited for traffic violations in four accidents reported today by Washington C.H. police. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated one rural accident early Tuesday.

A car driven by Dorothy M. Donohoe, 66, of 825 Church St., struck a car owned by John J. Butler, 65, Greenfield, while she was attempting to back into a parking space in the 400 block of E. Market Street at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Washington C.H. police reported slight damage incurred by both autos.

An accident in the 300 block of Lewis Street at 2:58 p.m. Tuesday, when Robert A. Beedy, 21, of 1510 N. North St., took his eyes off the road and attempted to catch something sliding off the backseat of his car. He struck a parked car belonging to Earl C. Debusk, Brooksville, Fla.

Beedy was cited by police for reckless operation and damages to both autos were estimated as moderate.

An accident at the intersection of Lewis Street with Columbus Avenue and E. Market Street, involved cars driven by Jackie J. Pursley, 18, Sabina, and Stella M. Schwartz, 85, Mount Sterling, at 12:37 p.m. Tuesday.

Ms. Schwartz was charged with failure to yield right of way by police. No one was injured.

A car belonging to Margaret Staffan was struck by a hit-skip driver while parked in front of her 727 E. Paint St. address, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, police reported today. They are investigating.

A car driven by Kirk P. Neff, 17, of Mount Sterling, went out of control at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday on Ohio 38, four and one-half miles north of Washington C.H. in Paint Township, when the right front tire went onto the right berm.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Neff's auto traveled off the road and into a deep ditch. The driver was uninjured and no damage estimate was made.

50 bills face assemblymen

By PERRY SMITH

Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill allowing public employees to strike under certain conditions was among 50 measures introduced in the opening session of the 111th General Assembly Monday.

The bill, written by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, is a perennial measure to repeal the Ferguson Act, which prohibits strikes by public employees.

It is not one of the six bills Democrats have pledged to try and shove through this week, before Gov. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat, give up his command to Republican James A. Rhodes.

The bill has no connection, sponsors said, with a current strike by some 5,000 Columbus public school teachers. Its main sponsor is, Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D—15 Cleveland. It has 12 co-sponsors.

The Thompson bill would set up an involved mediation procedure for public employees, including creation of a five-member Ohio Public Employment Relations Board to deal with public agencies and their employees.

Another bill aimed along the same lines, sponsored by Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, would simply repeal the Ferguson Act.

The anti-strike law, in effect since the 40s, has been labeled "unworkable" by both Democratic and Republican administrations.

Karl E. Stewart, executive director of OCSEA, said the Ferguson Act "is strictly a punitive measure allowing the employer to fire any striking employee."

"It doesn't have a mechanism for resolving employer-employee problems," he said at a news conference.

The Thompson bill would allow the Employment Relations Board to deal with public agencies and their employees.

Strikes would be permitted only when an impasse has been reached. Procedures would be set up for the board to stop a strike if it presents a danger to public safety. "Our collective bargaining proposal provides a 'bill of rights' for all Ohio public employees," Stewart said.

"The lawmakers of Ohio should act quickly to adopt this proposal before we receive a mandated labor law from the federal government which might not be suitable to dealing with the labor problems of Ohio," Stewart said.

Among major bills introduced during the opening day were ones that would: —Grant automatic cost of living increases to policemen and firemen who retire.

—Boosts from $1,500 to $2,000 the amount a city can spend before getting city legislative authority.

—Allow $1 to be deducted from the state income tax and earmarked to a political party.

—Create a new common pleas court judgeship in Marion County.

—Allow an employee who quits a job to become eligible for unemployment benefits after 90 days.

—Regulates use and transfer of computerized personal data and restricts use of social security numbers.

Helen Reddy said worst dressed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Helen Reddy heads the list of 10 worst dressed women of 1974.

Mr. Blackwell, the designer who has been making the selections annually for 15 years, also unveiled Tuesday his list of the 10 best dressed women of the year.

"When I think someone looks rotten, it doesn't mean they don't have a good soul or that they aren't great entertainers," the designer said of his choice of Miss Reddy for the dubious distinction.

Mr. Blackwell picked actress Elizabeth Taylor as the worst of the worst dressed in the 15 years he has been making his selections public.

"There's just too many yards of flesh with too few inches of fabric," he said of Miss Taylor.

On the designer's top 10 of the worst dressed were Miss Reddy; Princess Elizabeth of Yugoslavia, fiancée of actor Richard Burton; Fanne Foxe, stripper friend of Rep. Wilbur Mills; Rep. Bella Abzug, D.N.Y., described as dressing for the 1940s; Cher Bono, who Mr. Blackwell said looks like a "Hawaiian bar mitzvah"; singer Charo, described as "Carmen Miranda with cleavage"; the Pointer sisters; Raquel Welch; Karen Valentine, and Sonia Rykiel, the first fashion designer to make the list.

Police check theft report

When John W. Langley, Knight Road, returned to his unlocked car, parked in the municipal parking lot on S. Fayette Street Dec. 28, he found the auto locked and the window rolled down a couple of inches.

Further investigation by Langley revealed his yellow-gold wristwatch valued at $150, had been stolen from the glove compartment and a new chain saw valued at $12, had also been taken from the back of the car; however, a chain saw and tools were undisturbed.

Washington C.H. police, who are investigating the theft, explained the report was submitted Tuesday because after Langley discovered the theft he had to go into the hospital for a week and didn't have time to inform police until now.

Charge dismissed

In only one non-traffic case heard in Municipal Court Tuesday, acting Judge Omar Schwartz dismissed a charge of assault against a city man.

The assault charge filed on a private warrant against Larry Forsythe, 31, of 139 Washington Manor Court, was dismissed on a motion by the plaintiff.

Reye's syndrome disease reported

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Children's Hospital has admitted the first child of the 1974-75 winter season suffering from Reye's Syndrome but do not expect the epidemic of last year.

All 24 of the children suffering the disease survived last year, and researchers at the hospital gained an enormous amount of data on treating the ailment.

The malady, the researchers reported, causes death in about 75 per cent of untreated cases and about 41 per cent of treated cases.

The research team from Children's Hospital and the University of Cincinnati, while treating the children, documented the relationship between the ailment and viruses, specifically Influenza B.

Reye's Syndrome usually starts as a simple flu-like illness followed by vomiting, hallucinating or violent behavior, swelling of the brain, a fatty liver and, if untreated, coma or death.

The research team, headed by Dr. William Schubert and Dr. John C. Partin, reported that Reye's Syndrome attacks the energy producing elements in liver and brain cells called mitochondria.

When this happens, the cells are unable to perform their functions and the organs swell with fat in a way different from other diseases.

"We don't know yet what causes Reye's Syndrome," said Dr. Partin, "but what we have done in Cincinnati is to show that this type of mitochondrial injury is not seen in any other childhood liver disease."

"We can't yet be sure whether this injury is the cause of Reye's Syndrome, or the result of some other factor we don't yet know about. It may be that the virus plus some other factor causes the mitochondrial injury."

They also learned that all the children had been in contact with influenza B, either having it themselves or had been in contact with others who had contracted it, the researchers said.

They noted that both Reye's Syndrome and cases of Influenza B both peaked in midFebruary last year. Influenza B, however, is not expected to be a major component of this winter season so another epidemic of Reye's Syndrome is not expected either.
